Our Come and Play Day

24th May 2017

A BIG Thank you from Parklands Nursery School and Playgroup to all the parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles and carers, and not least of all a HUGE Thank you to the CHILDREN for a fabulous open day at Parklands Nursery School and Playgroup.

On 24th May we had a beautiful day outside in the spring sunshine... exploring the dinosaur caves, mixing amazing potions from herbs and flowers and creating our own musical instruments from old junk. The sand pits were transformed into building sites complete with hard hats and bricks. Our aspiring naturalists explored the world of mini beasts.

All the exciting activities were especially set up to promote and develop speech and language in the early years.

General information

Please can we remind all parents, now that the better weather is coming can we make sure the children wear sun cream and if applicable supply us with some so we can apply it at lunch club. Also to make sure the children have sun hats to wear whilst they play outside.

Wishing you all a fabulous summer!

“Now more than ever we need to celebrate and cherish the creativity, energy and playfulness of our children, if we and they are to flourish in the complex world of 21st Century.”

“Play is the root of all human achievement, whether it be science, in technology, or in the arts: we need to nurture our children’s playfulness, not stifle it.”

David Whitebread (PEDal)

“We know that playfulness has a direct correlation to human wellbeing.”
